CORRESPONDENT E-MAIL ADDRESS:

REQUEST FOR RECONSIDERATION DENIED

ISSUE/MAILING DATE:

Applicant is requesting reconsideration of a final refusal issued/mailed August 27, 2007.

After careful consideration of the law and facts of the case, the examining attorney must deny the request for reconsideration and adhere to the final action as written since no new facts or reasons have been presented that are significant and compelling with regard to the point at issue.

Accordingly, applicant's request for reconsideration is denied. The time for appeal runs from the date the final action was issued/mailed. 37 C.F.R. Section 2.64(b); TMEP Section 715.03(c). If applicant has already filed a timely notice of appeal, the application will be forwarded to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB).

The respective marks, NUTRI-RICH OIL and NUTRI-RICH, are virtually identical in sound, appearance and meaning in that the term OIL for skin care products in oil form is generic. If the marks of the respective parties are virtually identical, as here, the relationship between the goods or services of the respective parties need not be as close to support a finding of likelihood of confusion as might apply where differences exist between the marks. Amcor, Inc. v. Amcor Industries, Inc., 210 USPQ 70 (TTAB 1981). TMEP §1207.01(a). In any event, the evidence already of record shows that there is a very close connection between supplements and skin care products in today's market. In fact, nutritional supplements are even offered in topical form. See e.g. U.S. Registration Number 3375965 attached from the Automated X-Search System for "nutritional supplements in lotion form sold as a component of nutritional skin care products." In that consumers are accustomed to these types of goods overlapping and emanating from a common source, consumers are likely to believe that the respective supplements and skin care products here are also related and emanate from a common source.

Although the applicant now owns U.S. Registration Number 2741331 for NUTRI-RICHE for skin care products, this factor does not obviate the stated refusal. NUTRI-RICHE is a different mark, and prior decisions and actions of other trademark examining attorneys in registering different marks are without evidentiary value and are not binding upon the Office. Each case is decided on its own facts, and each mark stands on its own merits. AMF Inc. v. American Leisure Products, Inc., 177 USPQ 268, 269 (C.C.P.A. 1973); In re International Taste, Inc., 53 USPQ2d 1604 (TTAB 2000); In re Sunmarks Inc., 32 USPQ2d 1470 (TTAB 1994); In re National Novice Hockey League, Inc., 222 USPQ 638, 641 (TTAB 1984); In re Consolidated Foods Corp., 200 USPQ 477 (TTAB 1978).

The applicant also argues that the registrant's arguments made in overcoming a Section 2(d) refusal regarding the NUTRI-RICHE mark are tantamount to a co-existence agreement. The examiner disagrees. The registrant has not specifically consented to registration of the proposed mark herein. Moreover, please see TMEP 1207.01(d)(viii) regarding acceptable consents or co-existence agreements, a portion of which is stated below:

1207.01(d)(viii) Consent Agreements

The term "consent agreement" generally refers to an agreement in which a party (e.g., a prior registrant) consents to the use and/or registration of a mark by another party (e.g., an applicant for registration of the same mark or a similar mark), or in which each party consents to the use and/or registration of the same mark or a similar mark by the other party.

In conclusion, in view of the virtually identical nature of the respective marks, NUTRI-RICH OIL and NUTRI-RICH, and overwhelming evidence as to the close relationship between skin care products and nutritional supplements, the final Section 2(d) refusal is maintained and CONTINUED. In further support of the Section 2(d) refusal, please see the attached World Wide Web evidence showing that nutritional supplements are now a common part of skincare i.e. caring for the skin from the inside out. For example, see the World Wide Web excerpt regarding Cellex-C Products, vitamin and mineral products specifically for anti-aging purposes. Moreover, see additional evidence from the Automated X-Search System and from the World Wide Web now attached showing a continuing trend of others to offer supplements as well as skin care products. For example, see the attached World Wide Web excerpt from CanyonRanch.com referring to a company offering nutritional supplements as well as skin care products.

Finally, please note that the Section 2(d) refusal regarding cited U.S. Registration Number 2741131 is withdrawn in that the applicant is now the owner of this registration. Furthermore, the examiner accepts and acknowledges the claim of ownership of U.S. Registration No. 2741131, the new drawing, and the disclaimer submitted.

Healthy Skin Begins from the Inside: Using Nutritional Supplements for Skin Care

Nutritional Supplements Abstract: Nourishing our bodies on a cellular level is the key behind radiant, smooth, and youthful looking skin. The most effective method is through the addition of vital minerals, vitamins and other nutrients directly from our diet. Unfortunately, not everyone has the time, inclination or knowledge to accomplish this. Nutritional supplements therefore have become the most convenient method to supplying the body with everything it needs for healthy skin.

Let's be honest. A majority of the world's population doesn't come anywhere near obtaining the daily requirements and recommendations for every vitamin, mineral and macromolecule that the body needs on a regular basis.

Our busy lives and the ease at which we can grab fast food with low nutrient value contribute to this looming problem. Even if we were to eat the right foods each day however, more than likely we would still be missing some of the vital molecules our body requires due to the poor health of the nutrient depleted soil that our vegetables and fruits are grown in.

Are we doomed? Hardly. Our bodies need a regular dose of specific vitamins and minerals to function optimally. These can range from various antioxidants such as Vitamins A, C and E to less well known micronutrients like selenium and lecithin. Researchers, scientists and physicians have spent decades developing nutritional supplements to give us the molecules that we aren't getting from our food.

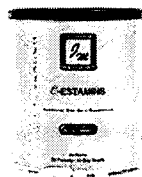

How do you know if you need to be using a nutritional supplement in your life? Most people do. That's the common advice from physicians and health care professionals throughout the nation. However, if you'd rather find out for yourself, consider these questions.

- Do you often eat processed and/or fast food?
- Do you get sick several times each year?
- Are you often fatigued and worn out?
- Do you deal with stress and anxiety regularly?

Answering yes to even one of these questions may indicate that you aren't receiving the full complement of vitamins and minerals that your body requires. Another way to know if you need to supplement your diet is by looking at your body in the mirror, specifically the skin on your face.

If you look in the mirror and see wrinkles, dark circles under your eyes, crow's feet, and puffiness and sagging all in the wrong areas chances are you aren't getting everything you poorness and sagging in the wrong areas means are you aren't getting everything you need from your diet.

Jan Marini Skin Research C-ESTAMINS Nutritional Skin Care Supplement was designed to supplement the average diet and was specifically formulated to rejuvenate the skin. We've all heard the saying that true beauty begins from the inside and that's the truth. When the inside of our cells are healthy it can be seen from the outside. Jan Marini's C-ESTAMINS contains 30 packets of daily vitamins needed for healthy skin as well as providing the rest of the body with much needed minerals plus essential macro and micro nutrients.

The sun's UV rays along with other environmental toxins such as ozone and cigarette smoke can wreak extensive damage to the skin on a cellular level. Jan Marini's C-ESTAMINS Nutritional Skin Care Supplement is loaded with free radical fighting anti-oxidants. This supplement is so powerful, in fact, that only those who have been cleared by a licensed skin care professional or physician can use this product.

There are other supplements on the market too that target healthy skin cells. Some focus only on certain issues such as diminishing fine lines and wrinkles or boosting collagen levels. Whatever your concern is when it comes to skin care there is sure to be a nutritional supplement that will fulfill your need.

Let's say you're worried about those wrinkles around the eyes, nose and lips. One of your choices to combat the problem is Murad Wrinkle Reducing Dietary Supplement Pack. Wrinkles appear because of issues with the hydration in the cells. Too little moisture and low levels of nutrients cause the cells to lose their structural integrity and become weak. Supplying those cells with essential oils, hydrating components and nourishing molecules ensures that they remain vibrant, healthy and firm. Murad Wrinkle Reducing Dietary Supplement does just that with a plethora of essential fatty acids from flaxseed oil, fish oil and borage oil. Additionally, glucosamine sulfate, aloe vera and antioxidants from grape seed extract and quercetin will supply added protection and healing power to the cells of the skin causing those worrisome wrinkles to smooth out and disappear over time.

Your face is not the only area of the skin to show signs of sagging and aging, though. Jiggly thighs, drooping triceps and sagging necklines are also reminders that the years are moving ahead whether we want them to or not. So, take some time each day to work on toning and firming those tell-tale signs of aging. Below are several suggestions that will keep people guessing your age much younger than you really are for years to come.

Toning and firming can be accomplished through a series of steps.

1. Be sure to keep your body hydrated each and every day. That requires drinking pure, fresh water on a regular basis throughout the day, not just at dinner time! Water is considered by many to be the liquid gold of good health and vibrant skin. Show your healthy skin off this year by making a pledge to drink more water.
2. Being active helps to keep the muscles and connective tissue of the body firm and toned. Don't be shy about getting outside each day for some fresh air and movement. Take a brisk walk around the block, a bike ride, or work in the garden if the weather permits. Whatever your mode of preferred movement is do it each day!
3. Nutritional supplements. As we've already noted, we can't always meet all of our nutritional

3. Nutritional supplements. As we've already noted, we can't always meet all of our nutritional requirements through food. Firm and Tone Dietary Supplements by Murad keeps underlying cellulite in place rather than bubbling up through the skin, hydrates the interior of the cells and revitalizes the overall appearance of the skin. The ingredients in this product are meant to firm and tone the interior and exterior of the skin leaving your skin firm, tone, and radiant. In fact, studies have shown that using Firm and Tone Dietary Supplements by Murad can encourage the appearance of firmer skin within 6 weeks!

Healthy feeling skin and a good complexion are important to looking and feeling your best. With all the chemicals that are used today to process the common foods we eat, it can be harmful to the body and skin. Consuming the right amount of vitamins and nutritional supplements can be key to a healthy exterior. There are many products sold today that can give you the look and feel that you want. You can find products anywhere from creams and cleansers to multivitamins that will give you the appropriate nourishment for the exterior of the body.

Proper skin care is critical to our overall health and can be obtained through the proper supplementation. Vitamins A, B, C, E, and K are all essential to the health of your skin. There are other minerals and vitamins as well that are equally important; some of these include Selenium, zinc, copper, alpha-lipoic acid, dmae, hyaluronic acid, and essential fatty acids. Vitamins are essential to a healthy lifestyle by the way that they replenish and restore cells. Each vitamin and mineral has a different purpose in the aid of producing or maintaining healthy skin.

Who We Are

We are Naturopathic Doctors first and foremost, but our passions for healthful teas, bath and water therapies, and natural organic living are the reason we carry products that support this lifestyle.

We believe that by educating and empowering our patients and the general public to make better health choices, and to consume and use only the highest quality, organic products, we can improve the well-being of our planet.

Our Office

Our Office and Storefront is located in Incline Village, NV, which is in the north shore of Lake Tahoe. We are in the lower Village Center at 754 Mays Blvd #2, Incline Village NV 89450. We welcome a visit during our normal store hours of 10:00am to 5:30pm, Tuesday through Friday, 10:00am to 1:00pm Saturday. We are closed Sunday and Monday.

Check out our NEW online vitamin consults, which allow us a little time each week to speak to patients and customers who live elsewhere. Click "Products" above, then the "services" category to the left of the products page for downloadable intake forms. There is a charge for the service because each and every consult is performed personally by a licensed Naturopathic doctor. We never sub-contract online visits nor do we use any computerized algorithm to do our recommendations for us. Note: We do not practice any primary care online nor do we make any diagnosis. These online visits are not a substitute for regular doctor visits - we provide these holistic consults to help our customers improve diet and lifestyle, and to provide our customers with a doctor approved supplement program. We do everything possible to help you feel more like your optimal self!!!

your optimal self!!

Our other source of pride is in our own custom line of Natura Vita products: from body bath salts to herbal teas and individually customized herbal medicines, we produce effective and unique blends to suit a variety of needs, styles and budgets.

Our Philosophy

Natura Vita is deeply committed to providing the highest quality nutritional supplements, herbal medicines, and skin care products. We carry only product lines that are independently tested for quality and free of heavy metals and other impurities. We also only carry products that are free of synthetic fillers and additives, as well as major food allergens like wheat, dairy, and corn.

All skin and body care products that we carry contain organic or biodynamically grown herbs and natural essential oils. We strive to provide healthy products that are safe and hypoallergenic, and many are meant for sensitive skin types. Our standards are the highest in the online world, and are the same that we provide to our patients in our private practices. We personally research and choose each product that we carry.

We are pleased to provide the latest reliable information on health conditions and treatments provided by our staff of naturopathic physicians. Our mission is to provide you not only with products that meet your needs, but to further educate and connect you with the newest information that concerns your health. Natural Home Products and Vitamin Supplements for Healthy, Non-Toxic Living

Healthcare practitioners and the wellness community in general stress that balanced meals, sleep and water are key to staying healthy. Many also recommend adding vitamins and nutritional supplements to the daily diet. To help you and your family maintain good health, Peace of Mind Skin and Body Care, in Studio City, California offers top-of-the-line vitamins and nutritional supplements from an international wellness company.

The vitamins are designed to meet the very different needs of men and women and patented technology provides a high rate of absorption. Patented supplements are available to maintain cardiovascular health, lower cholesterol levels naturally, maintain healthy joints, vision and prostate health. There are even natural solutions for easing the symptoms of menopause.

Adding supplements to your diet is only one part of creating a healthier environment for yourself and your family. Removing chemicals and toxins from your home is another. Many off-the-shelf cleaning products contain harmful chemicals. How can you tell? You can smell it. Odors from bleach, detergents, and household cleaning products can permeate the container, allowing the fumes to seep out. It's called out-gassing. And it's exposing your family to toxins that can affect their health. These pollutants also seep into the air you breathe and the water you drink. Many times they're not fully rinsed out of the clothes you wear or off the dishes you eat from. Make a change today. Remove the toxic chemicals from your home. Replace them with safer, non-toxic cleaners and natural home products that are guaranteed to out-perform the national brands. Reinforce your peace of mind through non-toxic living.

How Nutritional Supplements Help Fight the Aging Process

By: Brian Dolezal

Most people reach for an anti aging cream when wrinkles begin to appear. These products are effective at minimizing wrinkles and preventing more wrinkles from forming. One of the reasons they are effective is the presence of nutrients known as antioxidants. Antioxidants help scavenge free radicals that cause damage to the skin and speed up the Antioxidants help scavenge free radicals that cause damage to the skin and speed up the aging process. It makes sense to include these nutrients in your food intake as well. This can be done through diet and with nutritional supplements.

A recent French study showed that people who take supplements containing antioxidants had twenty three percent fewer wrinkles than the group who did not take the supplements. The antioxidants in the supplements bind the free radicals in the blood stream. This has many benefits for the skin and your general health. Free radicals are also thought to play a role in certain diseases such as cancer and heart disease.

You should include foods rich in antioxidants in addition to supplements and anti aging creams. Try to include a variety of foods that contain vitamins A, C, E and beta-carotene. Some studies have shown that a combination of vitamins C and E aid in the absorption of these nutrients and are most effective for free radicals. Some foods rich in antioxidants are raisins, blueberries, cranberries, prunes, plums, spinach, brussel sprouts and broccoli.

Green tea extract is very popular right now and is a great antioxidant. In addition to benefiting the skin, there are other health benefits. Green tea is thought to protect the heart and boost the immune system. There is some evidence that it can help prevent cancer in some cases. You can drink green tea either hot or cold. This nutrient is present in many supplements that are made for the skin.

Vitamin A is an important nutrient for the health of your skin. This vitamin is included in many anti aging cream products and wrinkle removers. This vitamin is very important for the growth of skin cells. A deficiency in this vitamin can reduce the effect of your skin care products. You should try to get about 10,000 IU of this vitamin each day. If your diet is deficient, a supplement can help. Avoid taking too much of this vitamin, as it tends to build up in the body.

Vitamin E is well known for combating the damage done by free radicals. This vitamin improves the elasticity and moisturizes the skin. For this reason, it is often used in anti aging cream products. When it is combined with vitamin C, this nutrient is even more effective. Try to include this nutrient in food sources as well as in supplements.

A combination of a healthy diet, nutritional supplements and good skin care products is best for your skin and overall health. Look for antioxidants in your nutritional supplements and anti wrinkle skin care products. Read the labels to become familiar with the ingredients commonly used in these products. Reading reviews is a good source of information and will help you make the best choice for your skin.

system skin care treatment utilizes a unique patented complex of vitamins and minerals as an effective anti-aging formula to improve the appearance of older looking skin. Remarkably, Cellex-C anti-aging formulas may be the first advanced skin care system to have a profound effect on the way the skin visibly ages. The unique cellex c anti-aging system incorporates a delicate balance of vitamin C, tyrosine and zinc, which effectively improves the appearance and texture of aging skin.

Sagging skin, wrinkles (Strivectin-SD Anti-Wrinkle Stretch Mark Cream) and age spots are primarily caused by oxy-radical damage. Cellex-C anti aging skin care product formulations achieve their stunning anti aging results by helping to reinforce the outer layer of the skin's natural defenses against oxy-radical attack. Cellex-C anti aging formula also contains constituents that the skin needs to encourage a firm, youthful, elastic quality. No other anti aging skin care product can utilize that mechanism which creates the results seen in test subjects using Cellex-C skin care treatment on one half of their face, and observing the difference. All Discount Cellex-C Anti Aging formulations are protected by a U.S. and international patent.

Digestive Enzymes and Nutritional Supplements for Skin Health by MaryAnn Gruark, Certified Aromatherapist and natural products formulator

Digestive enzymes and supplements that optimize our skin health. For those of you who want to take one additional step towards integrative skin care, there exists an entire plethora of nutritional supplements designed to assist you. Primary players in any supplementing program should be digestive enzymes, mineral supplements, antioxidants, and essential fatty acids.

Digestive enzymes facilitate the breakdown of food in our digestive tract. They are also responsible for transporting the raw nutrients that we get from food throughout our body in a form that our bodies can use. It's always better to derive nutrients from our food, rather than in a vitamin pill. Enzymes help us to do that.

Digestive enzymes are present in all raw foods that we eat. Heating food over 120 degrees Fahrenheit destroys them, so most of what we eat has been robbed of any naturally occurring enzymes because it has been either cooked or processed. We can, however, purchase digestive enzyme supplements to take with our meals. For general digestive support, an enzyme product that contains a combination of the following enzymes would be beneficial: protease, peptidase, lipase, amylase, glucomylase, alpha-galactosidase, cellulase, hemicellulase, invertase, malt diastase, lactase, pectinase, and phytase.

Additionally, proteolytic enzymes, such as bromelain, which specifically work on protein digestion, can be extra beneficial for controlling cellular inflammation if taken on an empty stomach.

Minerals are essential for skin health because skin needs to be able to hold water in order to maintain that plump, healthy look. Water binds to minerals in our body, in fact, our body needs 6-12 different minerals or "body salts" to maintain a healthy homeostasis. If we're deficient in minerals, water does nothing more than flush out our system, taking with it valuable nutrients and minerals that we need. A general mineral supplement is great support for our skin.

One of the most skin-beautifying minerals out there is calcium, but not all calcium sources are readily received by our bodies. Certain types of calcium are best for bone support, but not for skin. Some are awesome for the brain, but not bones. Calcium is essential for every cell in our body, but it must be taken in the presence of vitamin D, and magnesium (1:1) in order to be absorbed most effectively. A multi-sourced, ionic calcium supplement taken in the morning, or just before bed can be very beneficial to our skin.

Essential fatty acids rule hormones. For women, increasing our daily intake of essential fatty acids could be a skin-saving (and marriage-saving) tactic as they have been found to have a balancing effect on our hormones. The best source of natural essential fatty acids are wild Alaskan salmon, avocados, nuts (almonds or walnuts are great) and seeds. Natural sources of essential fatty acids are most readily accepted by the body, so try to get them from the food you eat, rather than through a nutritional supplement.

Lastly, anti-oxidants should become your very best friend and constant companion. They should be present in your skin care products, and in your diet. Anti-oxidants are unsurpassed at repairing free radicals and correcting the oxidative damage to our body's cells caused by stress, environmental toxins, UV, harmful ingredients in our diet, and just daily wear and tear. Free radicals and oxidative damage are precursors to almost every disease and affliction known to us, including cancer, and they bombard our bodies up to 3 million times a second.

Anti-oxidants are in our fruits and vegetables, and in green or white teas. They can be taken in supplement form, but we need a minimum of six different anti-oxidants in combination to reap their maximum benefit. Vitamin E is a great anti-oxidant, but in the presence of vitamin C its benefits can increase by a thousand times. And L-Glutathione is 10,000 times more effective than vitamin E at scavenging free radicals. Some additional choices for antioxidants include Super Oxide Dismutase, and Alpha Lipoic Acid.

As with any health-related therapy, it is always essential to first discuss the issue with your family doctor. Additionally, seek the counsel of a qualified nutritionist who specializes in immune health and digestive function.
